Sex Education for the Next Generation

Now that your toy collection is steadily growing, it's time to get schooled! The more sex toys on the market, the more couples are getting curious about the mechanics of private parts. If you're looking to hit the books, sex educators are the best bet for a fun, eye-opening education in how our bodies experience pleasure.

You don't have to be an avid bookworm to enjoy Dr. Sadie Allison's collection of sexy literature. Does RIDE 'EM COWGIRL! SEX POSITION SECRETS FOR BETTER BUCKING sound like a boring read to you? Sadie sounds off on everything sex: tips for toy lovers, position guides for couples, hot oral techniques, and experiments in self-loving. For those still new to the toy-and-lube game, sexpert Sadie can guide you to the best beginner's products to start filling up your nightstand on her online shop, TICKLEKIT-TY.COM. "Slippery Kitty lubricant is water-based, pH balanced, hypoallergenic and paraben and glycerine-free," says Dr. Allison. "It's enriched with antioxidants, moisturizing aloe vera and vitamin E, is latex compatible, and can be used with silicone sex toys." Sounds like we just found our go-to lube! Still looking for that perfect, no-frills vibrator? Try the TICKLE KITTY CLASSIC BULLET VIBE. For toy newcomers, this little powerhouse piece will jumpstart start your buzzy addiction.

Modern sex ed is more than just the birds and the bees. It's about connecting with your partner and mutual satisfaction. "Be a generous lover," advises Dr. Sadie. "When you take the time to understand and focus more on your partner's pleasure, you will quickly find the doorways to sexual fulfillment opening up wide for both of you."

High-Tech Sex

Long-distance relationships and business or military travel can be rough on your sex life, but not for long in our tech-centric future. The emergence of teledildonics, a funky niche mixing telecommunications and sex toys, is changing the way we stay sexually connected across continents. The team at Kiiroo has engineered a couples' device that puts a whole new spin on cybersex.

KIRROO'S PEARL, a touch-sensitive vibrator, AND ONYX, a smart masturbator, allows couples to have digital sex in real time. Connect to your partner using Bluetooth and Kiiroo's video chat platform, which works with most smart devices and operating systems. Stroking or inserting the Pearl vibrator transmits your exact movements to the Onyx masturbator. "When he touches his device, she can feel it in her device and vice versa. The connection is real time," says Kim Pot, communications manager at Kiiroo.

Kiiroo's his-and-hers products look appropriately like a NASA invention, but we promise you don't have to be an aeronautical engineer to use them. "Both devices are easy to connect," says Kim. "You just need a Bluetooth connection and our app or platform to feel your partner from anywhere in the world." If you thought watching something hot with your mate was a turn-on, try it in virtual reality. When your partner returns home, you can even sync up the Pearl and Onyx to match the strokes and thrusts of your favorite porn. We keep hearing that computers are a huge distraction from sex, but we're pretty sure Kiiroo has found the antidote.

Connected for Life

We know this sounds obvious, but there's truly never been a better time to love sex. No matter who you dig, what parts you've got, or how you choose to get down, there is a sea of sex toys out there just waiting to deliver the orgasm of a lifetime. Choose a body part to please, pick a partner (or three), and dare yourself not to find at least 10 sex toys that can satisfy your exact needs. The phrase "something for everyone" might be cliché, but it's a perfect fit for the incredible future of sex toys. Play on, my friends!
